

A man with dark hair, wearing a purple and white vertically striped button-down shirt, is looking back over his right shoulder towards the camera. He is standing outdoors with green foliage in the background.

hamptons views

premiere issue 2010
FIVE DOLLARS

travel

food

arts

beauty

interiors

features

C H A Z Z
PALMINTERI
DELIVERS

contagious wisdom

Cottages at Sebonack Golf Club

Grande Design

by Ed Orgera

A graduate of Parsons New School for Design, Angela Grande has been transforming spaces since the age of eight using Colorforms games as her landscape. She credits her dad, a former space program engineer at Grumman Corporation for her unique talents in commercial and residential interior design. "Although he was not a general contractor, he did build our house," she says.

And for nearly twenty five years, Angela has applied those talents to a wide range of private and commercial luxury clientele including The Pierre Hotel, Courthouse at Kelly House on Martha's Vineyard, The Ocean Club in The Bahamas, dwellings in New York City, Paris, The Hamptons, Utah and Florida. "Our portfolio encompasses a range of styles particular to the request of clients. It includes Classic and Traditional, as well as Contemporary".

Hamptons Private Residence

She has also transformed many Golf Clubs & Cottages (her specialty) including The Cottages at Sagaponack, The Cherry Valley Country Club Garden City, The Plantation Club at Dorado Beach Puerto Rico and was awarded first prize by Golf Inc. Magazine for Golf Club Renovations. "Our Clubhouse List is extensive and reflects interior styles that relate to their specific locations."

Angela's work has been featured in numerous high profile publications including The New York Times Magazine, Architectural Digest, Woman's Day and now yours truly, hamptons views!

Her current projects include Brynwood Golf and Country Club in Armonk, The Oconee Club at Reynolds Plantation and an 8,000 sq. ft. Private Residence in Rancho Santa Fe, California.

For more information or to contact Angela visit: agrandedesign.com